Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 23 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Many areas dry but rain arriving in the evening.

Today:
Largely cloudy today with many areas remaining dry, although parts of the north may see some spells of patchy drizzle. Winds increasing throughout the day. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
A band of rain will soon push across the region from the west. Clear spells will follow towards dawn. Windy in the north this evening but easing overnight. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:
Early rain in the south will quickly clear leaving conditions mostly dry with sunny spells. Cloudier in the afternoon with a chance of showers in the north by evening. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Showers with possible hail and thunder on Thursday and more especially Friday when it will be breezy and cold with the showers turning wintry. Milder on Saturday with further showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.